THE JOURNAL

OF THE

PACIFIC COAST NUMISMATIC SOCIETY

INDEX

Arranged by Subject and Author

Issues 21-40

October 1989 through July 1994

Compiled by Stephen M. Huston

MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

STEPHEN M. HUSTON

It is a great pleasure to publish the index to the second twenty issues of The Journal. Our first twenty issues covered some 420 pages, counting table of contents and advertisers' space. These second twenty issues cover 600 pages, typeset in a style which places more words on a page than when we started. Our second five years of publication saw a 50% increase in actual writing.

To make an index of this material manageable, we have produced it in two parts: subject and author.

• The first part by subject is arranged in five sections: Ancient, Medieval, Modern World, United States, and Misc. No section is so large it cannot be skimmed in a few seconds to find what you seek.

• The second part is arranged by authors' last names, then in the order the writer's work was published except that regular columns are listed after other writings by the author.

Indexing The Journal's recent years revealed several noteworthy discoveries:

- US coins were the subject of only two of our writers during the last five years! When we exclude book reviews, we have one story on silver dollars and a series on the lowa commemorative half. I was surprised to discover only two writers on US coins in five years. Surely our members have more to say about US coins.
- The country to which the US loses hands down is Great Britain, which has been included in most issues.
- Paper money has been featured in every issue of The Journal for the last five years, thanks primarily to columnist Ken Barr. Though others helped, Ken has not missed an issue! Over half of these issues have two or more paper topics.
- Keeping pace with our resident syngraphist is exonumist Jerry Schimmel, who missed only one issue—and that only after placing two articles in the previous issue while also serving as editor.

• The award for production must go to David Lange. He has more than twenty articles in twenty issues, including a series on PCNS history and his column.

As you skim down the Authors Index, you will see their output. These people have shared the work with The Journal's staff of keeping our society's publication on schedule and worth reading. Every name has made an important contribution to PCNS by sharing information with all of us. To their names must be added others who also made contributions to the first five years of The Journal. Fifty-one people have published in these pages in the last decade—easily half of the PCNS membership.

We owe the fact that we have had more to print in recent years from a slightly smaller group of writers to the work of David and Becky Cieniewicz, who served as editors longer than anyone else. They recruited writers to serve as columnists, creating a core group to provide continuity from issue to issue. Their innovation and years of valuable work left The Journal in good shape for our current editor, Jerry Schimmel, to take charge. Jerry does double duty excellently as a columnist along with editing each issue.

Finally, special thanks goes to Paul Holtzman, who has served as publisher since our second year of publication. Paul makes sure that the printing and mailing get done on time. Once the editing and layout is finished, Paul sees each issue through to the final mailing, which has been on schedule every issue for ten years.

Thank you one and all!

This index is arranged in two parts, Subject and Author.

Subject Index arranged in five sections: Ancient, Medieval, Modern World, USA, Misc. Listings in italics are titles of books reviewed.

AUTHORS INDEX arranged alphabetically by authors' last names, then in the order published columns, which follow each author's other writings.
